Memorial Day: Remembering the names behind the sacrifices

This coming weekend, our nation will pause to remember and pay tribute to those who died defending our country.

That list now has more than 1.2 million names, about half of which were added during the four years of the Civil War.

Memorial Day began in the wake of that conflict, and while about two dozen towns claim to be its birthplace, Congress declared in the 1960s that its original home is Waterloo, NY.

There is no doubt about the location of the first national ceremony, which took place in 1868 at what was Confederate General

Robert E. Lee’s estate before the war and Arlington National Ceremony thereafter.

In his order calling for the decoration of the soldiers’ graves, Union General John Logan wrote that our nation should always strive to make sure we never forget, “as a people, the cost of a free and undivided republic.”

Nearly a century later, another General – Douglas MacArthur – told a group of West Point cadets what drives those willing to serve even at risk to their own lives.

“Duty, honor, country,” he said. “Those three hallowed words reverently dictate what you ought to be, what you can be, what you will be. They are your rallying points: to build courage when courage seems to fail; to regain faith when there seems to be little cause for faith; to create hope when hope becomes forlorn.”

No words better describe the men and women who serve in uniform. They find courage, faith, and hope when it seems there are none. That was as true in the Revolutionary War as it is today, with our service men and women fighting for us in places like the Middle East and around the world.

Kentuckians understand this better than most. One in 10 Kentucky adults is a veteran, and Fort Knox, Fort Campbell, the Kentucky National Guard and those in the Reserves have long played integral roles in our country’s defense. Consider the War of 1812, which saw more Kentuckians die in battle than every other state’s casualties combined.

On Memorial Day, officials will unveil the newest memorial that recognizes those who died while serving Kentucky. This one will honor the 233 people, dating back to the early 1900s, who were members of the National Guard.

It is worth noting that some of their names will Memorial Day . . .

later be included on a separate memorial the General Assembly has authorized to recognize those Kentuckians who died while serving in Iraq and Afghanistan. That figure stands at more than 100.

All Memorial Days are special, but this year's is noteworthy because it takes place in the midst of several major anniversaries. Last month marked 150 years since the end of the Civil War, for example, and this summer is the 70th anniversary of the end of fighting in the European and Pacific theaters during World War II.

We're also in the 50th year recognizing the formal start of fighting in Vietnam and the 40th since it ended in 1975.

Our region is home to several heroes who gained national fame while in the military. Franklin R. Sousley, a Fleming County native, was one of the men that raised the flag at Iwo Jima, which became one of World War II's most enduring moments.

Another hero from Fleming County, Ambers Sapp, was given the Distinguished Service Cross for his heroism in World War I. Eugene Estep of Bracken County earned the same award for his service in Korea.

Colonel Charles Young, who was born in Mayslick, was one of the famed Buffalo Soldiers and became the first African American to be named Colonel in the U.S. Army, the title he held when World War I began.

We have many more heroes who also made a true difference when we needed them most. Some of them were personal friends, such as Ernie Rosser and Donnie Lewis, who gave the ultimate sacrifice.

As we pay tribute to those who gave so much to so many, I hope you can take part in one of this weekend's Memorial Day events. If that is not possible, I encourage you to take a moment to recall the sacrifice given on our behalf. It is crucial that we never let time and indifference cause the memory of our fallen soldiers to fade. This is something we should think about every day, not just Memorial Day and Veterans Day.

If you are a veteran or are still serving, I want to say how much I appreciate your willingness to carry this mission forward. Our world now is different in so many ways from the eras of the Revolutionary and Civil wars, but the commitment of our men and women in uniform – who truly understand what duty, honor and country mean – remains unchanged.

We are forever in their debt, and we must never forget.

Thoughts and Meditations from the Scriptures

WHAT'S YOUR STORY?

You often hear it said that only you can define what success means to you. While this is certainly true, it doesn't go far enough. That is, the story of our life is something that only we can properly tell. We certainly rely on others to help us with the details, since no one remembers their own birth, or can know what happened while they were under anesthesia or otherwise unconscious, but it's up to us to create the guiding narrative of our own life story. And don't we all want there to be a story worth telling when it comes to our own life? While we are alive the story is necessarily unfinished, but as we get older we begin to see certain themes coming together. Whatever your life story is about, make sure that the way you live makes you a hero and not a villain. And like any good story, the parts that tell us the most are the trials and the struggles we go through. It's easy to be calm, cool and collected when everything is going smoothly. The real question is whether you can maintain your composure, and your values, when things start to fall apart? – Christopher Simon

"Blessed is the one who perseveres under trial because, having stood the test, that person will receive the crown of life that the Lord has promised to those who love him. James 1:12

HEARTFELT

THANKS

The family of Adrian Curtis would like to thank all who sent cards, flowers, food or just stopped by to offer their condolences, and his neighbors who stopped to check on him daily. Dad owned Needmore Grocery for 42 years and he and mom made many, many friends. He so loved telling a story or two and didn't shy away from a good argument.

A special thanks to Clark and his staff, where we are always treated with the utmost kindness and professionalism. Also, to Pastor David Wu, who through his kind words and readings helped us through a very difficult time.

Dad will be missed forever, but we know that he will live in the hearts of all who shared their grief with us during this difficult time.

On this beautiful Sun., May 17, there were 43 to SS and our lesson, brought by Ron Foley, was on "Tell Your Story". 1st Timothy 12-20. We need to let those around us know that the God of the Bible is still at work today.

Special music was by Hope Florer on the organ playing "Let Us Break Bread Together" and "Something Beautiful". Angie McKinney played "Jesus and Me" and "I've Got A Mansion" on the piano.

Jonathan & Lukas Puccini, twins of Michael & Kaitlin Puccini, of Germantown, just loves Children's Church (they call it Bible School). They say "let's go papaw, let's go!" Little McKenzie Reckers, daughter of BJ & Amber Reckers, cries and doesn't want to leave. She also has a brother & sister that loves it too. Helping today was Justin Reckers & Brittany Harrison. They did a religious craft and told them about Jesus.

Remember in prayer: Evelyn Vermillion (had surgery); Sandy Blevins (radiation); Rick Linville (chemo); Audrey McKinney (fell); Mary Welch (broken arm); Karen Gallenstein (had surgery); Dorothy Jean Meyer; Johnny & Ruth Nickerson; Bill Tuel (liver biopsy & was airlifted to Lexington. Doing better and may get home this week); Little Jack Shepherd (has 2 types of leukemia); Victor Davis (throat surgery this week). Remember all those on prayer list and always each other. Sympathy and prayers for the families of Mark Heller, Mary Poston, and John Slatery.

We had 17 to Bible Study as Wayne Pendleton brought our study on Genesis 11. Refreshments were provided by Sherry Henderson, Elizabeth Pendleton, and Mark Hardyman.

There were 72 to the Men's Fellowship on Monday night. Speaker was Bill Wilson. Special music was by Jane Nelson and Angie McKinney. Homer Burton did two specials. A delicious meal was prepared by the ladies at Chatham.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF AUGUSTA

by Rita Bradford

Hello & God's Blessings from The First Baptist Church of Augusta. Brother Tony's sermon was taken from Jonah 3:8-10, 4:1-11 titled "The Best Laid Plans". We often make plans, as to the way we want our life to go, only to have them crumble to the ground around us because we didn't seek God's plan for us first.

We invite you to come join us as we continue to seek out what God has in store for us. Our services begin with Sunday School Classes 9:30 a.m. This coming Sunday our lesson is titled "The Gift of Languages". This lesson will help you use the unique gifts God gave to you to help those around you. Our Sunday Morning Worship begins 10:30 a.m. Our Sunday Night Service begins 6 p.m. Wednesday Night Prayer Meeting begins 7 p.m. Looking forward to seeing you there!

PRESBYTERIAN POTPOURRI

by Les Grooms, pastor
Augusta Presbyterian

Augusta High School held its 2014 baccalaureate in the Presbyterian Church. The sanctuary was full. Lisa Gibson played the music, Susie Hargett led the singing and also did special songs. Robin Kelsch addressed the seniors. I gave the baccalaureate address, and the mothers did a wonderful job of preparing a reception for the seniors after the service.

A touching moment of the service was the power point presentation of the seniors while they were younger and during informal situations. Another touching moment was when each senior presented his or her mother with a rose.

This was Scott Hyden's last Sunday pastoring the Augusta Christian Church. I got a chance to say good bye to him after our and his church service was over.

We had 61 attending church today. Mary Murray led worship, Susie Hargett led the singing, and Shelby England had children's church.

Judy England will have an eye procedure done on Monday. Edna Thomsbury will have a gallbladder operation of Monday.

We will continue with our soup suppers Monday night starting at 4 p.m.

GREETINGS FROM ST. JAMES

With only nine more drawings left, we congratulate Ms. Karen King as this week's winner of the $100 Raffle drawing! Parishioners are asked to begin preparations for this year's Ice Cream Social to be held on July 26. Items are needed for the Silent Auction and Country Store, along with pop and bottled water. Help and support from all parishioners is needed for this major fund raiser to be just that!

On Sunday, May 24, everyone is invited to our Fourth Sunday Breakfast. This meal is free but donations are accepted to defray the cost of the food. Also this Sunday, we will be celebrating the Feast of Pentecost. This is an ancient Jewish Feast that the apostles, disciples, Mary and other women followers of Jesus were observing when the Holy Spirit descended upon them as 'tongues of fire and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit.' Before ascending into heaven, Jesus told the disciples that He would send an Advocate that would remain with them and this feast is celebrated fifty days after Easter. On Tuesday, May 26, our five Confirmation candidates will receive this same Holy Spirit and we pray for their continued commitment to the Church!

Letters To The Editor

What a beautiful day the Lord gave us to work for Him. Our work was picking up trash along the highway from Ford's Avenue to Don Galloway Drive.

Did you think now the grass had grown, the trash wouldn't be seen?

WRONG! It was awful! What was thrown out this winter did not disappear. What are litterbugs thinking, or are they?

Thankfully we got it done with all our helpers.

Let's keep God's earth clean!

BROOKSVILLE CHRISTIAN

by John Elfers

Greetings from Brooksville Christian, where we are ministered by Ron Moser, along with our youth minister, Shane Hunt, where we strive to learn to love like Jesus Christ. All right here in the center of beautiful Brooksville.

This week's lesson was on "Bitterness". Ron used the analogy that bitterness is like drinking poison and waiting for the other person to die. Then wrapped it up by asking "Through Christ, God forgave us all. Can't we forgive each other?"

We will be hosting several events in the coming weeks. May 29 - Out-of-School Lock-In 9:30 p.m.-7 a.m.; May 31 - Graduation Service (send pics to Ron); June 1-4 - Fellowship of Christian Athletes All Star Camp 9-1 p.m.; June 13 - VBS registration event 5-7 p.m.

For more info. call Ron 606-782-2731 or Shane 606-375-8419 or email: brooksvillechristianchurch@windstream.net.

Safe canning practices keep everyone healthy

Submitted by Shannon Smith, CEA Family & Consumer Sciences

Gardens are beginning to bear the fruits of our labor. Soon, it will be time to start thinking about preserving some of the excess produce for winter months. Safety is of utmost importance for those of us who will be preserving food, because, let's face it, no one wants to get sick from poorly processed food.

Bacteria, molds and yeast can grow quickly on fresh foods, and fruits and vegetables contain oxygen and enzymes that can cause food to spoil. Safe home canning methods help prevent the growth of these bacteria, yeast and molds in addition to removing excess oxygen from the food, which destroys spoilage enzymes and helps form strong vacuum seals on the jars.

You should remember several key points of proper food preservation to keep yourself and your family healthy and safe from botulism, which can be a deadly form of food poisoning.

Despite what you may find on the Web or social media, only two methods are acceptable for home canning safe, quality products. They are the boiling water canning method and the pressure canner method. The type of food you are preserving will dictate which method to use. Boiling water canners can be used on fruits and other products that have a high concentration of acid, such as salsas or pickles with enough lemon juice or vinegar added. Acid helps prevent the growth of harmful bacteria in canned food. Vegetables, poultry and meats do not contain enough acid to prevent the growth of bacteria. For these foods, a boiling water canner will not reach a high enough temperature to destroy the bacteria that can cause botulism, so you must use a pressure canner to ensure safe processing.

Make sure to use up-to-date equipment that's in proper working condition. It's never a good idea to purchase a pressure canner at a yard sale as replacement parts and manufacturer's instructions may be no longer available. Pressure canners made after 1997 were designed with more safety features and weigh less than older canners. Follow the manufacturer's instructions on canner care and maintenance. For dial gauge pressure canners, the accuracy of the gauge should be tested each year. This can be done at your local Extension office.

Remember to always use tested, research-based recipes to preserve foods. These recipes are available in Co-operative Extension Service home canning publications, in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Complete Guide to Home Canning or on the National Center for Home Food Preservation's website. Follow each recipe as closely as possible. Do not make additions or changes unless options are provided in the recipe. Not following the recipe precisely or using a recipe that is not research-based, may not completely kill all bacteria and result in sickness.

Use only Mason-type canning jars and self-sealing lids. Do not reuse old jars like those that previously contained peanut butter or mayonnaise. After processing, allow the jars to cool naturally. This helps form a good vacuum seal.

More information on safe food preservation is available at the Bracken County Cooperative Extension Service at 606-735-2141.

Australia to Augusta: Community Education Goes International

On Sunday, May 10th, Mark McLay arrived in the beautiful city of Augusta. The purpose of his visit was to meet with fellow Community Education colleague Phyllis Reed and other of her affiliates from across the state to gain a better understanding of Community Education in Kentucky.

Mark is a principal and community education partner at St. Arnaud Primary in the southern city of Victoria in Australia. The school hosts Kindergarten through sixth grades for students to attend.

Mark has been active in Community Education both in Australia and nationally. He serves on many boards there where community support is encouraged. He was also affiliated with the National Community Education Association when it was in operation here within the United States. Mark had visited for the national NCEA conference that was held in Dallas, Texas in 2008. This is where he and Phyllis met.

On Monday, May 11th, Mark visited the Preschool room at AIS and had the chance to inter-act with the students and staff. He also visited other classrooms, and the Augusta Board of Education where he met AIS Superintendent Lisa McCane. From Augusta Phyllis took Mark to tour Churchill Downs, and several other sites of interest in the beautiful river city of Louisville.

On Tuesday, May 12th, Mark visited the Community Education Program of Clark County in Winchester. He and Phyllis met with director Cora Heffner and talked about how her program differs from Phyllis' and others across the state. From Winchester Mark and Phyllis traveled to Lexington, Versailles, and Frankfort. While in Frankfort, Mark visited the Kentucky Department of Education. He met the Commissioner of Education, Dr. Terry Holliday, and Community Education Program Consultant Joan Howard. Before leaving Frankfort, he was taken on a short tour to see the Capitol building, Governor's Mansion, and Ruth Hunt Candies.

Mark will travel from Kentucky to Minnesota to meet with other NCEA and Community Education colleagues to visit and see just how different the programs are there compared to the 95 in operation across Kentucky. Mark will depart from America on June 6th, to return to his family, colleagues and school back in Australia.

in Maysville are the only places that these bags can be properly recycled. All three companies are affiliates of the much bigger chains and each store provides a box for recycling clean plastic bags. In addition to plastic bags, all Lowe's stores accept CFL bulbs, rechargeable batteries, and cell phones. If you have a new appliance delivered to your home, Lowe's will remove and recycle the old appliance at no charge and the Garden Centers at all Lowe's will accept plastic trays, pots and tags. Again, these items are NOT acceptable in the Recycling Trailers, but must be taken to any Lowe's in the Continental United States, and as stated plastic bags can also be dropped off at any Kroger's or Walmart locations.

All the funds have been expended for roll-offs in the county for citizen usage, but the final receipt has not been received. Please don't depend on this service for your normal trash disposal, because this funding is not guaranteed. For those of you who do not have Rumpke service, we urge you to contact them at 877-76-7537 to subscribe to their trash removal service. This past Sunday evening a pleasant breeze was blowing from the south and we were enjoying the refreshing air coming in the windows when suddenly our nostrils were bombarded by the obnoxious smell of someone burning trash that had plastic in it! Needless to say, everyone in the neighborhood had to endure these toxins! Burning trash is illegal as well as unhealthy! Young children, the elderly and those with chronic lung illnesses are especially vulnerable to the poisonous gases released from burning plastic. Keeping the planet healthy for all plants, animals and humans is attainable with proper disposal of trash and by RECYCLING, REUSING and REDUCING to keep God's earth clean, green and beautiful! Be seen' you - Bin & Bug.

Honoring Freedom's Fighters

In remembrance of the fallen heroes who will forever live in our hearts, we celebrate Memorial Day. Thank you to all of the veterans who bravely served and selflessly sacrificed to protect our freedom. We are forever grateful.

State Representative Mike & Marg Denham

TRASH TALK

by: Mr. Recycle Bin & Ms. Pick-Up Litterbug

606-735-9960

Howdy Folks! On Monday, May 25, Americans will be celebrating Memorial Day by visiting the gravesites of beloved family members and friends. The custom of visiting graves to clean and decorate was observed by many families in rural America, usually in late summer to include a family get-together or reunion. After the Civil War, the need to honor fallen heroes became apparent and many states set aside various dates for "Decoration Day". It wasn't until 1971 when an Act of Congress established the last Monday in May as Memorial Day to be observed simultaneously throughout the states. Because of the Monday date, many folks will be enjoying a 3-day weekend, but for many, it will be business as usual. The Mason County Recycling Center will be closed so we won't be emptying any trailers, but we will rotate the Augusta Depot Trailer to Foster and the Extension Office Trailer to Berlin. Memorial Day is the unofficial beginning of summer activities and we wish everyone an enjoyable day followed by the best summer ever!

With the warmer weather, we are experiencing more non-recyclable items thrown into the trailers. On Wednesday, we removed (with extreme difficulty!) a T.V. antenna, with many arms, legs and poles along with a fluorescent light housing and plastic sheeting from the trailer parked in Berlin and three riding lawn mower tires from the Germantown Trailer. Last Friday we removed a vehicle bumper, headlights, black plastic sheeting and several bags filled with plastic bags from the trailer located in Milford. It is unfortunate that these bags are thrown into the trailers and not properly recycled. The Recycling Center is not equipped to handle these bags and any plastic sheeting and bags must be sent to the landfill. Lowe's, Kroger's, and Walmart

Results of the Kentucky quota elk hunt drawing now available to applicants online

Applicants for the 2015 Kentucky quota elk hunt may now go online to see if they were drawn.

This year, 34,001 people from as far away as Hawaii submitted 70,348 applications for the hunt. Kentucky, which supports the biggest elk herd east of the Mississippi River, opened a season for elk in 2001.

The Commonwealth Office of Technology recently performed an independent drawing to determine the winners and the type of permit to be issued. The Commonwealth Office of Technology provided the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources with the names of the successful applicants.

Kentucky will issue 900 general and 10 youth quota elk hunting permits for the 2015-16 season. Applicants should go online to the department's website at fw.ky.gov and click onto the My Profile tab to see if they were drawn.

Those drawn for an elk hunt will receive an information packet from the department with useful information specific to elk hunting in Kentucky. Hunters are responsible for finding their hunting location.

Hunting areas are divided into an at-large area and four Limited Entry Areas (LEAs). When drawn, all hunters are assigned to the at-large area. Hunters who wish to apply for one of the Limited Entry Areas have until July 3 to do so.

Limited Entry Areas were created in regions with relatively large blocks of public access. These areas are designed to prevent overharvest of elk from land accessible to the public by limiting the number of hunters. Limited Entry Areas are not trophy management zones, and should not be considered better hunting opportunities because of their different status.

Hunters have a variety of resources available on the department's website to help them decide where to go, including previous harvest results for each county and tract of public land. Since not all public lands have elk, hunters should look up elk harvest results from previous years to help guide their decision on where to apply.

The department also encourages drawn hunters to thoroughly research potential hunting spots by talking to someone who has hunted elk in Kentucky, visiting the area to scout and interviewing some of Kentucky's licensed elk guides.

Hunters should note that Fishtap Wildlife Management Area (WMA) in Pike County has been designated as Active Restoration Areas and will be off-limits to elk hunting this year.

Bracken Co. Fish & Game Club donates to Bracken County Shooting Sports

The Bracken County Fish and Game Club held a very successful coyote derby from mid November to the end of February. Thirty participants from several counties were able to harvest 165 coyotes, 32 foxes and 8 bobcats with the total weights of each being 5816 pounds of coyotes, 308 pounds of foxes and 174 pounds of bobcats. The entries were weighed at several different volunteer locations including Miller's Home Center in Brooksville, Augusta Farm Supply, Lenoxburg Country Store, Dryden's Sporting Goods, Nancy Logan Taxidermy, Carl Anderson Taxidermy and Licking River RV Campground and Bait Shop.

After the derby was completed the club hosted an awards dinner to recognize the winners for the derby. There was 1st, 2nd and 3rd places in three different categories for coyote and the winners were: Most Coyotes: 1st Alvin Staggs, 2nd Roy Lorah, 3rd Richard Halcomb; Biggest Coyote: 1st Gary Kinder, 2nd Josh Figgins, 3rd Chris Highfield; Smallest Coyote: 1st Garland Case, 2nd Justin Kinny, 3rd Travis Pitts. There were first and second places awarded for the biggest foxes and bobcats: Fox: 1st Travis Pitts, 2nd Roy Lorah; Bobcat: 1st Cody Brumley, 2nd Garland Case.

The coyote derby offers the sportsmen and women of the area a chance to take several different species during the three and a half month long event. This event is run as a fundraiser for the Bracken County Fish and Game Club. This year the club decided to donate 50% of the proceeds to the Bracken County Shooting Sports Club. A donation of $500 was presented to the shooting sports club at one of their practices. The next derby will start this coming November so be sure to like them on Facebook to get their updates, look for their flyers or come to their club meeting held the third Monday of each month at their clubhouse on Mattox Road.

GERMANTOWN FAIRGROUNDS

Sports in Kentucky by Bob Watkins

From Mousie in Knott County, Everyman knows his basketball

Tribute this week, to a Kentucky Everyman fan.

“Born and raised in a house full of basketball talk,” an e-mail said.

William Sparkman is among those who have lived longer, witnessed the parade of winning teams at Kentucky longer and watched from a special place on our map.

“I was born and raised in Mousie, Kentucky (Knott County),” Sparkman wrote.

Typical citizen in Big Blue Nation. Expertise honed by experience, common sense and time, his brand is higher quality than all who have sold out to one and done.

Sparkman’s affection for UK hoops seems not measured by money, celebrity and hype, but style, priorities, and skilled team men dating to his favorite coach, Adolph Rupp.

And this: “My dad would turn the game on (teevee), then listen to Cawood Ledford on radio,” he said. “Cawood would tell it like it was. ... I miss those days.”

The pause from the man from Mousie, reminded me our game has changed so dramatically an NCAA official said the other day, “we’ve got to make some changes to make our game watchable again.”

Watchable again? In Kentucky such words smack of sacrilege.

Sparkman’s UK favorites tell a story too: Dan Issel, Anthony Davis, Kenny Walker, Mike Casey, Tony Delk, Pat Riley, Kyle Macy, Jamal Mashburn, Sam Bowie and John Wall. Dedicated team men.

“I could go on forever with this list,” he said, “But if I coached a team I would want these 10.”

Finally, Sparkman had an issue to air. “... of all the great players at UK only one has been player of the year. (Anthony) Davis. ... This year Willie (Cauley-Stein) was the best player in the nation. No question!”

Ironically, Sparkman’s view is supported by best-ther-ever-was Larry Bird. The Indiana Pacers exec told Cauley-Stein last week, he believes the ex-UK star is a $100 million player.

Sparkman is Everyman. From Mousie in Knott County, we can almost hear Sparkman’s amen to that.

PLUG IN APPROACH

For Kentucky, and to more a wait-and-see for Louisville, our state’s college basketball powers are projected among rankings high flyers again in 2015-16.

Considering UK sent half his roster into the job market last month, and came up zero-for-seven on 5-star recruits in the spring, how can Kentucky be a top five team in preseason polls?

Name recognition aside, it’s the plug-in factor.

Having lost recruits Cheick Diallo and Carlton Bragg (to Kansas), Jaylen Brown (California), Malik Newman (Mississippi State), and Steve Zimmermann (UNLV), Kentucky can plug in Skal Labissiere at center, Mychal Mulder at shooting guard, and Isaiah Briscoe anywhere and a promising nucleus – Alex Poythress, Marcus Lee and Tyler Ulis – merits a top ranking for the Wildcats again.

One certainty, after not winning an NCAA title with an all-star team last year, Kentucky’s coach had better be primed for Big Blue fans who expect him to “... show us something!” this time around.

Louisville. A mostly (new) team that could crash and burn, more likely will rise again under its Hall of Fame coach. If the Cardinals succeed, Rick Pitino will be back in demand to write another how-to book.

SIGN OF THE APOCALYPSE?

University of Kentucky and its men’s basketball coach are discussing a one-year, $8 million contract extension.

Through 2022, it would pay the ball coach $54 million and replace a seven-year $52.5 million contract signed last June. Additionally, five weeks from now a longevity bonus kicks in at $1.6 million.

Odd, how media herd types report with enthusiasm gargantuan amounts of money going into pockets of athletes, administrators and ball coaches, but never an investigative look into how they spend it.

Bracken County Track Team again headed to State meet

No matter the sport, it is always a coach’s best day when he hears his team has advanced to the next level. The next level for Forrest Hunt and his High School Track Team is the State Track Meet. Fortunately, he has seven boys who will compete this Saturday, May 23rd in Lexington. Devon Coleman secured his trip to the State Meet by taking second place in both the discus throw and shot put at Regions last Saturday in Danville. Also securing their own trip were both the 4x400m relay (Athur Wallace, Jacob Hamilton, Nick Parker, and Austin Clos) and 4x800m relay (Cameron Botkin, Jacob Hamilton, Austin Clos, and Dalton Highfield) teams by placing first and second respectively at the 1A Region 5 Meet. Nick Parker was notified after all Regions were in that he too had qualified to run individually in the 400m dash in Lexington. Those attending the State Meet will travel Friday evening to spend the night closer to the meet and compete on Saturday. Best of luck is wished to all those competing. Complete Regional results will be printed next week.

KANSAS ‘HAUL’

When Kentucky suits up at Lawrence, Kansas January 30, Wildcat coaches will see familiar faces wearing Jayhawk whites. Decisions of three prime recruits came down to UK and KU. And KU signed all three – power forwards Cheick Diallo and Carlton Bragg and guard LeGerald Vick who picked Kansas over Kentucky last weekend.

Why would 6-4, 180-pound Vick choose Kansas over Kentucky? Maybe four reasons – shootist Mychal Mulder, and Dominique Hawkins, Charles Mathews and Isaiah Briscoe who will earn time taking pride in playing defense.

KENTUCKY FANS

Always interesting how Kentucky fans hasten to over-react at any hint of slight against the Wildcats.

Syracuse coach Jim Boeheim, in a fund raiser speech last week put tongue-in-cheek and said, “... ‘If you have to coach in Kentucky, they should pay you eight million dollars.’”

Whereupon, an internet fan web site posted a headline: Boeheim Trashes State of Kentucky in Speech.

Trash a state? Here came the reactions, predicated first to discredit the messenger.

“Boeheim’s a cheater!” ... “Boeheim is a loser.” ... “Everybody hates us because we’re UK” ... “it’s jealousy!”

But, there is sanity and reason in Big Blue Nation too.

Boeheim’s joke brought these reactions also.

✓ “(Kentucky’s coach) was in attendance. It was a JOKE! Nobody was trashing Kentucky.”

And this one, that should be chiseled in marble.

✓ “I think y’all are wound too tight. It was said in good fun. Lighten up BBN.”

And so it goes.
